HISTORY

The known origins of the Van Zeller family refer back to the 13th Century. During the 17th Century, in the rouse of the religious wars that ravaged the northern and central Europe at that time, the van Zellers migrated to Spain and Portugal, countries where they came to settle. Samuel Palmer, a late ancestor of the Van Zeller family - once owner of Casa de Malladas - was a maverick and a remarkable icon in the trade of high-quality Port Wine to England. Paying attention to every single detail, the Van Zeller family have carefully aged their wines in the highest quality oak casks to ensure that they mature these rare elixirs as Samuel Palmer once wanted them to be.

VINIFICATION and MATURATION

Hand-picked at their perfect state of ripeness. After picking they are carefully transported to the winery and cooled down in cold chambers. The grapes undergo a period - usually one day - of pre-fermentative maceration and then the fermentation process begins, in stainless steel vats with temperature control, until the desired sugar level is reached. At this stage, wine brandy is added to the must to stop fermentation. blending several wines from different harvests, in order to achieve the myriad of aromas typical of this type of aging. Each of the wines was aged in wooden casks for different periods of time, with the average age of the blend defining the age of the final product.

VINEYARD
